revolution

A note about our prices: when viewing our prices please consider that we are a small, independent business with an emphasis on sourcing great quality, ethically sourced (often organic) foods with minimal plastic packaging. Whilst we have a keen eye on prices, we are not trying to be the cheapest. We do not have the same storage facilities or buying power of the big supermarkets, so please don't expect us to always be able to compete on prices. You will find that many of our herbs and spices prices are super-competitive, as are some of our other food products.

The more popular we become, and the more support we receive, the more we can buy, and this will mean that in turn, we can strive to keep our prices as competitive as possible.

Please also remember that you can buy as little, or as much as you need.
